LESSON IN POLITICS

PUT AN X BESIDE THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

FOLK HERO OF THE MONTH

Joke
Hero
Maybe...

In the light of all the recent scandals,
(BIDEN, HART) here's a bit about ol' Ron.
In the fifties, during the red scare, He was an informer for the greatest threat to freedom since Adolf, Joseph McCarthy.
And what of the Iran-Contra affair? Is it worse to have a president who doesn't know whats going on? I think so. Ron also appears not only blind to whats happening, but deaf to the Peoples wishes and congresses too on the issue of Bork! All this from a guy who can run a nation in 30 hrs. a week. WHE... Maybe he's not paid enough

ONE NIGHT RECENTLY WHILE SKATING A CERTIAN FUN TENNIS COURT, WE WERE RUDELY ASKED TO LEAVE BY AN I.U. POLICE OFFICER. I DO NOT UNDERSTAND
WHY WE WERE NOT ALLOWED TO SKATE. IT WAS A COLD NIGHT, AND NONE OF THE COURTS WERE BEING USED,
I HAVE SEEN THIS BANK GET SKATEBOARDS OR SKATE-
BOARDERS. I.U. IS A STATE FUNDED UNIVERSITY
SO MY TAX DOLLARS SUPPORT SUCH THINGS AS THESE

CONTEST REVIEW

YES I SAID CONTEST. FIRST I WANT TO THANK THE FELLOWSHIP CHRISTIAN CHURCH, (I HOPE THATS CORRECT) AND ALL THE ORGANIZERS INCLUDING BIKE SMITHS I THINK THEY DONATED PRIZE MONIES. THE CONTEST WAS ALL STREET STYLE, THER WERE TWO QUARTER PIPES, ONE APROX. 3FOOT AND ONE a foot and a half. THERE WERE TWO LAUNCHES. A PVC PIPE, AND A WAXED WOODEN RAIL. THE FORMAT WAS TWO ONE MIN, RUNS THEN THE FIELD WAS NARROWED TO FIVE. TURN OUT WAS GOOD. ALOT OF SKATERS SESSIONED BUT DID NOT COMPETE. THOSE WHO DID COMPETE WERE JOHN L. BRIAN P. JASON B. JERAD B. RYAN C. NOAH W. DAVID C. JEREMY JOHN M. COLEY B. (ME) WARM UP WAS SHORT, (OUR FAULT WE WERE LATE) PRELIMINARY RUNS WERE ROCKIN, SOME OF US CHOKED, BUT WE HAD FUN DOING IT. INTERMISSION WAS FILLED BY A BMX FRESTYLE DEMO THANKS DAN D. AND WES D. LETS BE HONEST AFTER THE FIELD WAS NARROWED THE PRESSURE HIT HARD. NO ONE HAD AS GOOD A RUN AS IN PRELIMS.

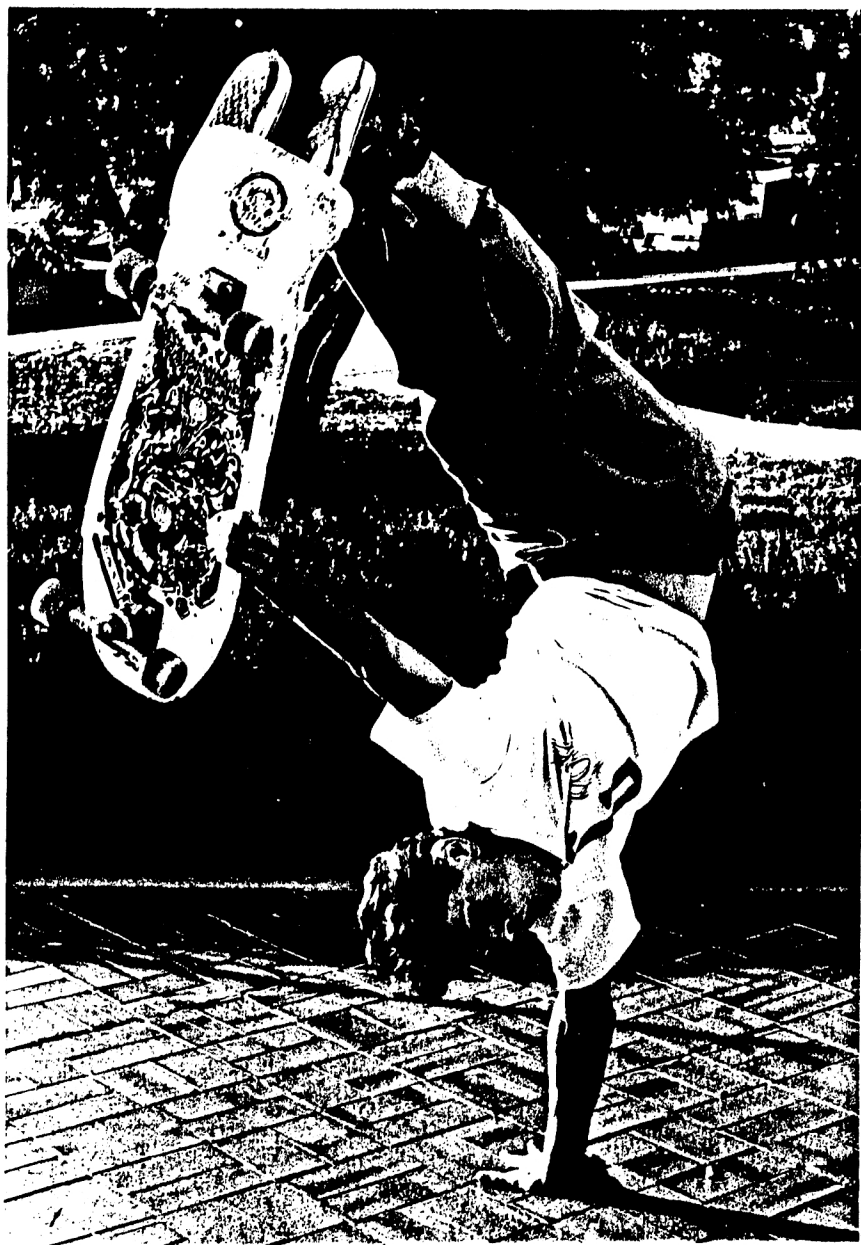

FINAL RUN HIGHLIGHTS:

PATCH STARTED OFF. AWSOME 360° LAUNCH A FRIGID TOO. NOAH WAS NEXT. BAKSIDE OLLIE LAUNCH ROCKED MY WORLD. ACE OLLIE KICK FLIP SAID IT ALL, ROCKET PLANT. JERAD HIGH LAUNCH (BACKSIDE I THINK) JEREMY JAPAN AIR TUCKLEG STREET PLANT SO COOL.

AFTER THE CONTEST A BIG SESSION WENT ON I WAS IMPRESSED BY THE SUPPORT OF FELLOW SKATERS (NO CUT THROAT COMPETITION). LOTS OF FUN SEEMED TO BE HAD BY ALL. LETS DO IT AGAIN.

THE CHEETA IS A CREATURE OF THE LEGS ITS RUNNING SPEED ALLOWS IT THE ABILITY TO OUT RUN ENEMYS AND CATCH PREY. THUS ALLOWING IT TO SURVIVE. THE BIRD IS A CREATURE OF THE WING. ITS ABILITY TO FLY ALLOWS FOR SEASONAL MIGRATION, IT ALSO PROVIDES A METHOD OF ESCAPING THE CAT. THE HUMAN IS A CREATURE OF THE MIND. IT CAN NOT OUT RUN THE CHEETA SO IT MUST INVENT THE AUTOMOBILE TO ALLOW RAPID MOVEMENT. HUMANS CAN NOT FLY SO IT INVENTED THE AIRPLANE. THE HUMAN USES ITS MENTAL CAPACITY TO INVENT AND PRODUCE TOOLS THUS ALLOWING IT TO SURVIVE.

ARE WE NOT LUCKY THAT THE CHEETA DOES NOT ABUSE ITS ABILITIES TO OFF-SET THE CRITICAL BALLANCE OF OUR ECOSYSTEM. ARE WE NOT LUCKY THAT ALL THE CREATURES IN OUR WORLD DO NOT ABUSE AND DESTROY OUR ECOLOGY. ARE ALL THE CREATURE NOT UNLUCKY THAT HUMANS HAVE GONE BEYOND THEIR ENVIRONMENT. AND USED ALL THE EARTHS RESOURCES FOR THEIR OWN BENEFIT, AND IN DOING SO DESTROYED A LARGE PORTION OF THE EARTHS PRECIOUS ECOSYSTEM.

TWO MASTERS OF SKATE FV LOCKED IN MORTAL COMBAT

By SUSANA HAWARD
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Goiânia, Brazil — Health officials began attempts Saturday to contain the radiation released from a "beautiful, glowing" cesium capsule that contaminated 40 people.

The cesium 137, a radioactive isotope used in cancer research and radiation therapy, was found in a junkyard by a scrap metal salesman Sept. 30. The man trundled the 500-pound lead casing in a wheelbarrow to a friend's house.

The capsule, taken apart on an old brown rug in the backyard of a modest home in Goiânia, enraptured everyone with its phosphorescent yellow glow.

Friends passed it around. Children rubbed it on their bodies.

The owner of the junkyard took a piece home and watched it at night — "beautiful, glowing" were his words for it.

It turned into the worst cesium-related radiation disaster in history.

President Jose Sarney ordered identification checks at Brazil's main airports in hopes of finding those believed responsible for abandoning the cesium.

On Saturday, police began searching for the owners of Goiânia's Radiation Center, a clinic torn down last year.

About 50 officials and workers from the country's Nuclear Energy Commission in bright orange overalls, masks and gloves tried to seal the contaminated area in concrete.

"If we can't get close enough because the radiation is too high, we may have to bring the house down," said physicist Roberto Vicente Figueiredo.

After it is sealed, the cesium will be deposited in the northern Brazilian state of Para in a 1,000-foot-deep hole at a military installation initially built for nuclear tests.

The block where the house sits has been cordoned off. Six other less contaminated sites have also been isolated.

In the first few days after the cesium was discovered, 24 people living near the areas were hospitalized. Many had second-degree burns and were suffering from diarrhea, vomiting, and body aches.

The number of those affected reached 40, all still hospitalized. Ten patients, including the 6-year-old niece of the junk salesman, are in serious condition at the Naval Hospital in Rio de Janeiro. They are given little chance of survival.

Nine others in serious condition are hospitalized in Goiânia, a city of 1.2 million, about 230 miles south of the capital of Brasília. Twenty-one others are under observation in Goiânia.

The United States, the Soviet Union, East Germany, and Argentina responded to an appeal this week made through the International Atomic Energy Association in Vienna, Austria, for help in treating 10 patients hospitalized in Rio in critical condition.

The Nuclear Energy Commission president, Rex Nazare, said in a nationwide television speech Friday night that all the radiation has been located and that the situation is under control. He added that there was no trace of radiation in the city's water supply.

Nazare has been under fire because his agency is in charge of transporting and depositing nuclear waste.

Many people even with accepted levels of radiation found in their bodies said they were being shunned by family and friends.

Gastor Xavier said he had to move to a hotel after his mother-in-law refused to take his family in because he lived next door to a man with high radiation levels.

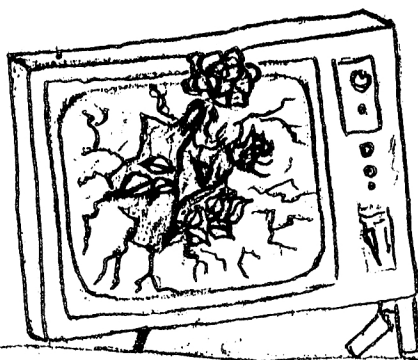

"Everybody thinks we are a band of lepers," said Maria Dos Santos, whose family has been left homeless by the incident.

The accident has prompted headlines that compared the leak to the Chernobyl nuclear power plant disaster in April 1986 in the Soviet Union.

"That's like comparing an orange with a banana," said Nuclear Energy Commission physicist Carlos Eduardo. "In Goiânia, the cesium 137 accident involves solid matter that does not spread through air and was restricted to an area of 16,000 to 2,000 square feet and affected no more than 50 people."

Back seat fatality

Indianapolis death: suicide or murder?

A 16-year-old boy, Michael H. Taylor, was shot to death Sept. 24 in Indianapolis as he sat in the back seat of a patrol car with his hands cuffed behind him.

The police call it suicide. The enraged black community calls it murder. In Bloomington, however, we won't call it anything until all the facts are in.

Just the facts, ma'am.

According to police, the scene occurred as follows. After arresting Taylor for attempted car theft, the two arresting officers handcuffed and searched Taylor. They searched him twice. No weapon was found.

Taylor sat in the back seat of the patrol car with a screen separating the front from the back. As the car pulled into the Marion County Juvenile Detention Center, the driver heard a shot.

He got out of the car and opened the back door to find Taylor lying on the seat. The officer grabbed the gun and threw it on the ground.

Taylor died, but the questions and confusion surrounding his death have not. In fact, they continue to grow. The black community wants the questions answered and the police force is trying to answer them.

The most obvious question is: how can a youth, with his hands cuffed behind his back, shoot himself in the temple? The police force, under the supervision of Police Chief Paul Amey, performed a videotaped re-enactment of the scene in an attempt to find the answer.

Five police recruits were handcuffed and placed in the back of a squad car. Each of them attempted to reach for a gun in their shoe and put it up to their temple. Four out of the five recruits were able to perform the maneuver, proving that it would have been physically possible for Taylor to shoot himself.

The black community was shown the tape and was surprised. However, their response was that although the shooting could have happened as police say it did, the taped re-enactment does not prove that the shooting did indeed happen in that way.

Another question comes up: how did Taylor have access to a gun, especially after the officers had searched him twice? The police have offered two possible answers. Taylor had been wearing high-top sneakers. Although they had searched him twice, neither of the officers said they had searched his shoes.

Or, perhaps, Taylor had found a gun between the seat cushions of the car that had been left there by a previous arrest. However, the patrol car was searched before Taylor's arrest, thus squashing that theory.

At the detention center there are video cameras monitoring the entrance. At the time of the shooting, say police, no one was watching the screens. Why not? The black community might be tempted to wonder whether someone was watching the screen and saw something he / she was not supposed to see.

Another question comes from the black community. At the time of his arrest, Taylor was photographed with his hands handcuffed. Leaders of the black community want to know: is this standard police procedure? If not, why he was photographed.

Too many unanswered questions remain surrounding the death of Taylor for it to be labelled for certain as suicide or murder.

We hope future investigations by the FBI and the Justice Department will answer the black community's questions as well as the police department's.

Let's not place the blame in either camp until all the facts are out.
